Texas City Is Still Ablaze; 542 Bodies Found, Search Continues

Coast Guard Investigator Says Cause of Blast May Be Mystery for Years

(By The Associated Press)
Texas City, April 19 (AP)—Weary but dogged rescue workers in grotesque asbestos suits were ready at sunrise today to go back into the haunted ruins of the Monsanto plant for more victims of Wednesday's explosions.
Already 542 bodies have been found in this blast-razed industrial Gulf coast community, the Red Cross said. Last night Mayor J. C. Trahan appointed a three-member "dead body commission" to prevent unauthorized removal of victims.
Fires still burned in oil storage tanks, casting a gloomy pall of smoke over the area. The grim task of putting them out continued.
Also continued is the Coast Guard investigation into the cause of the trigger-explosion aboard the Grand Camp, a French vessel that was loading nitrate when it blew up at 9:12 a. m. that fatal morning, taking much of the town with it.
In recurring explosions and fires, two other ships were sunk, the High Flyer and the Wilson B. Keene. The multi-million dollar Monsanto Chemical Corp. plant was destroyed with a heavy loss of life.

Blast a Mystery
A member of the Coast Guard Board yesterday said the cause of the explosion was "the sixty-four million dollar question" that may not be answered for years.
Memorial services for the dead will be held at 6 p. m. at the football field. All denominations are joining in the service.
The known dead totaled 542 after a check by The Associated Press and Houston Post eliminated seven seeming duplications from a list of 549 names issued by the American Red Cross.
Names listed by the Red Cross carried the notation "Identified Dead," but the Post stated the list should be considered tentative.

Cost of Living Reaches Record High of 156 Per Cent of 1935-36 Average

Washington, April 19 (AP)—The cost of living rose two per cent between mid-February and mid-March to a record high of 156 per cent of the 1935-1936 average, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.
Prices increased for all major groups of items used by moderate-income families in large cities, the bureau said.
Food prices advanced 3.9 per cent during the month after having declined 2.9 per cent between mid-November and mid-February. Other living essentials rose less than one per cent.
The retail prices of necessities in mid-March stood at 20 per cent higher than a year ago and more than 58 per cent above August, 1939.
The index for food alone March 15 was 189.5, one point higher than the mid-November and 2.4 per cent above the previous peak of June, 1920.
A special bureau survey in 12 cities indicated food prices have since dropped one half of one per cent between March 15 and April 15. The drop was counter to the usual trend from mid-March to mid-April.

Clara Johnson Hurt As Auto Upsets on Broadway Friday

Clara Johnson of Albany avenue extension was treated at the Kingston hospital for head and back injuries after the auto in which she was riding, operated by Robert Lane, 47 Jansen avenue, turned over on its side at Broadway near West Chestnut street shortly after 9 p. m., Friday.
Lane reported to the police that the auto turned over when someone stopped a car short in front of him and as he swerved to the left something went wrong with the steering gear.

Two Clinics Slated For City Monday

Diphtheria and Smallpox Immunization Will Be on Program
Monday, from 4 to 6:30 o'clock, the regular monthly toxoid clinic will be held by the County Board of Health at the Municipal Building on East O'Reilly street and at that time not only smallpox vaccinations be given but there will be the regular diphtheria inoculations available to children as well.
The hours Monday have been changed to later in the day in order that those who work during the day and seek immunization from smallpox may attend.
Today a smallpox clinic was held from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. at the health center on East O'Reilly street.
Over 600 were again vaccinated Friday at the local clinic and there were hundreds of others vaccinated at county clinics.
A report received today from the State Health Department reports the smallpox outbreak to be well under control and no new cases have been reported.

Merchants Will Cut Retail Prices 10 Per Cent

Newburyport, Mass., April 19 (AP)—Retail prices will begin rolling back 10 per cent Tuesday in this shopping center for approximately 45,000 persons in response to President Truman's plea for nationwide reductions.
The Northeast Essex Development Council, a business promotional group, claims 100 merchant members, last night pledged its support to the plan proposed by John E. Swanson, a hardware dealer.
Norman J. Randall, executive secretary of the council, expressed the hope that the program would be copied across the nation.
It calls for the immediate slashing of 10 per cent in all prices. The merchants have notified suppliers in the hope that they, too, will cut prices.
Randall said the retailers had decided to refuse to pay what they considered excessive prices for their goods and thus force costs down.
Sponsors expressed the belief that by the time the program becomes effective, an additional group of merchants in outlying districts would participate.

Washington, April 19 (AP)—President Truman kept his schedule free of callers today to work on a speech he will deliver at the annual Associated Press Luncheon in New York Monday. The President will address the AP members in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel at 2 p. m. (E.S.T.).

Roosevelt Charges Dewey Trying to Please Two Sides

Pictures Governor Having Hard Time Playing Up to Party Leaders and the People
Albany, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., says Governor Dewey wants to be an "iron-fisted conservative" to Republican party leaders, and a "moderate liberal" to the people who will elect the next president.
"The people and the reactionaries who control the Republican party are going in opposite directions, so the governor's tight-rope act has not been easy during the past few months," Roosevelt said last night.
The son of the late president gave the keynote address at the New York state organizing meeting of Americans for Democratic Action. The conference was to adopt a legislative program today.
Discussing Dewey's 1947 legislative program, Roosevelt objected strongly to the taxation by which teachers' salary raises and the projected veterans' bonus may be financed.
He termed the Republican administration's housing measures "half-hearted" and dwelt on the Governor Dewey's Washington rivals, Roosevelt declared.
The anti-strike act, providing automatic dismissal for public employees who strike, was "rushed through in order to steal the anti-labor headlines from some of Governor Dewey's Washington rivals," Roosevelt declared.
Calls for Stand
He called upon the governor to state his stand tonight, in a scheduled radio talk, on the Taft-Hartley low-cost housing bill.
He asked why the governor had not taken corporations to pay the $400,000,000 soldier bonus which the voters will be asked to approve this fall.
Roosevelt's answer was that such a move "would have alienated the support of those powerful special interest groups whose backing the governor will need at the Republican (national) convention in 1948."
If the bonus is voted, it will be financed by an additional one-cent tax on cigarettes and a 20 per cent increase in income taxes.
"The veteran will in fact be transferring money from one pocket to the other," Roosevelt observed.

Rita Lockwood Accused Of Rent Violations

New York, April 19, (Special)—Rita Lockwood, landlady of the Riverview Cottage, Libertyville Road, New Paltz, was accused of violating federal rent ceilings, in a suit filed Friday in U. S. District Court here by Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, as administrator of the government Office of Temporary Controls.
Fleming seeks to collect triple the amount of the alleged overcharges, or, in the alternative, double the amount, if the court directs the landlady to make restitution to her tenants. An injunction to prevent future violations is also asked.
Headed for New York
Southampton, England, April 19 (AP)—The Queen Elizabeth sailed for New York today, 60 hours behind schedule because she ran on a sandbank early this week as she neared her home berth here. A Cunard White Star Line official said efforts would be made to make up the time during the next two round trips by cutting a half day off each turnaround.

Western Union Strike Averted Today, Telephone Workers Will Go to Truman; Meeting Scheduled With N. Y. Telephone

New York Telephone and Striking Members Will Meet Today With Conciliator

'Break' Possible Because Pattern of 15 Cents Increase Is Being Accepted

New York, April 19 (AP)—Federal Conciliator J. R. Mandelbaum scheduled another meeting today with company officials in the stalemated negotiations between the New York Telephone Company and representatives of 37,000 striking members of four local telephone unions.
Mandelbaum said he did not expect to see union representatives again until Monday.
Two of the government's top mediators, John W. Gibson, assistant secretary of labor, and William Margolis, of the U. S. Conciliation Service, conferred here yesterday with C. F. Craig, vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in charge of personnel, in an effort to expedite settlement of the 13-day-old nationwide telephone walkout.
As they left for Washington last night, Gibson and Margolis declined to give details of their session with Craig, other than to say they were sounding out the company's position.
Henry Mayer, counsel for 15 telephone unions involved in the nationwide strike, said yesterday he believed the strikers would "hold out for an indefinite length of time" or at least until the Bell System Companies offered a $6 a week pay increase.
Mayer said this increase would be a "down payment" toward the union's basic demand for a $12 increase.
A "break" in the strike was possible, he stated, because the pattern of a 15 cents an hour increase was being accepted in some industries.
There was no reason he said, why the A.T.T. parent firm in the Bell System, could not "give at least an hour pending arbitration" because of the "admitted rise in the cost of living."
Mandelbaum did not report any progress after meetings yesterday with representatives of the New York Telephone Company and the four local unions. He has been seeking for almost two weeks to bring the two sides together.
Reviewing the nationwide strike picture, the A.T.T. said yesterday the public still was cooperating in keeping traffic volume light. The company said 80 per cent of the normal number of local calls were being handled throughout the country, principally through dial systems, and that long distance and local service in areas without dials remained on an emergency basis.

Big Four Agree to Take Up Austria's Frontier Problem

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Moscow, April 19 (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers agreed today at the demand of Secretary of State George C. Marshall to take up the problem of Austria's frontiers tonight.
This involved chiefly Yugoslavia's demand for southern Carinthia. Russia has favored and the western powers have opposed this demand.
A final deadlock on this issue tonight—following up last night's stalemate on German assets—would be about the only thing needed to bury the Austrian treaty for the present.
While Marshall and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin have not declared themselves formally for or against the Russian proposal, the conference, both are widely reported to be anxious to leave here as soon as possible in view of almost overwhelming evidence that no agreement can be reached on either a German or an Austrian treaty.
Marshall's move today appeared to be one more test to prove no progress possible without an almost incredible change of policy on somebody's part.
The Big Four got through three routine articles of the Austrian pact today, and while there was some shifting of positions on minor points and much arguing back and forth in the two-hour session, informants made it clear that nothing worth while was accomplished.
United States informants, suggesting that Russia apparently does not want to finish an Austrian treaty in Moscow, speculated that the Russians might have decided to stall all changes in Central Europe until they could evaluate the effects of President Truman's program to stem Communism.
These informants said the Soviet Union's stiff attitude on the Austrian pact in the Foreign Ministers' Council might be the result of a basic policy decision by the Kremlin to freeze the central European situation pending further development of the proposal now before Congress for $400,000,000 in aid to Greece and Turkey in what the president has termed a move to help "free peoples" resist "aggression by armed minorities" or "outside pressure."
This uncompromising Russian attitude was exemplified by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's detailed rejection last night of Marshall's proposal to find some "middle ground" for breaking the deadlock over the key dispute of what constitutes German assets subject to seizure in Austria.
Barring wholly unexpected changes in Molotov's stand, top authorities said, an Austrian settlement in the Moscow conference evidently has been ruled out by this rejection. One high official said the U. S. would not even consider Molotov's counter-proposals, which Marshall said "could make Austria a puppet state."
Without some unpredictable change in the situation, this was taken to mean that the conference here will not change substantially the basic fact of a European east-west split, with the Soviets continuing their troop-supported domination of the eastern section up to the western borders of their occupation zones of Germany and Austria.

U.S. Steel Workers Policy Makers Will Meet Sunday

Action Raises Possibility That Talks Might Produce Concrete Wage Offer Or Plan For Agreement

Pittsburgh, April 19 (AP)—A meeting of the United Steel Workers' policy makers today was postponed until tomorrow while C.I.O. President Philip Murray and Vice President John Stevens of the U. S. Steel Corporation continued contract discussions which began yesterday.
The meeting of the union's executive board was deferred as regional presidents were getting together for a session originally set for 10 a. m. today.
There was no official explanation of the postponement. One union spokesman commented "Anything the executive committee has to do can be done tomorrow just as well as today."
Any decisions made by the executive committee are expected to go a long way toward determining the future of steel production for another year.
The purpose of the executive committee meeting is to pass on the results of the collective bargaining negotiations which have been under way for weeks.
Most speculation centers around a reported wage increase offer, amount unspecified, which the trade journal, Iron Age, said was made to the union by U. S. Steel, bellwether of the industry. No confirmation of such an offer was obtainable from tight-lipped company and union officials. The union has never disclosed its wage demands.
With negotiations between Big Steel and the steelworkers currently at a standstill, a 23-cent an hour wage boost demand was sent by the union to the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., fourth largest producer. No union official would say that figure was also presented to Big Steel but it appeared much more to the liking of the union than a 15 cents an hour increase offered and accepted in other industries.
The C.I.O.-United Auto Workers have made a 23-cent wage boost demand on General Motors Corp., but the C.I.O.-United Electrical Workers have settled for a 15-cent raise for 30,000 worker-members in the General Motors plants and for 75,000 members employed by the Westinghouse Electric Corp. The auto workers called "unsatisfactory" a 15-cent offer made by General Motors.
Yesterday, Philip Murray, president of both the C.I.O. and the steelworkers, conferred at length with Walter Reuther, president of the auto workers, and other top C.I.O. officials but the results of their conference were not made public.
Reuther said he plans to resume negotiations with General Motors in Detroit Monday.

Gedney Arrested As Drunken Driver Deputy Sheriffs Prefer Charge After Crash With Stokes Car

He was taken before Justice of the Peace Percy Bush and held for a hearing at 6 p. m. today. He was remanded to jail.
The arrest followed an accident involving the Gedney car and that of Mrs. Francis Stokes on Route 32.

Chicago, April 19 (AP)—Charles W. Bidwell, owner of the Chicago Cardinals professional football team, died today of pneumonia in St. George's Hospital.

Benny Leonard Is Heart Victim as He Referees Bouts

New York, April 19 (AP)—Little Benny Leonard, the greatest lightweight of them all, came to the end of the trail last night—just as you would expect him to—in a fight ring, with the smell of rosin in his nostrils and the slide of the canvas under his black boxing shoes.
The smooth little fighting machine from uptown, who retired undefeated as king of the lightweights in 1924 after just about fighting himself out of opponents during a seven-year reign, died while refereeing a fight in St. Nicholas Arena. This was the neighborhood Club on 66th street, just off Broadway, where he'd put on some of his own classic clouting exhibitions in his heyday.
Could Name Round
It was all over in minutes for the 51-year-old master of the ring who was so perfect a performer that men close to him still tell how, on a dozen occasions, he named the round in which he would put an opponent away—and then did it just as he'd "called the shot."
He had refereed the entire St. Nick's card, as referees do in the small clubs, had finished handling the main bout in which Eddie Giosa, an up-and-coming Philadelphia lightweight himself, outpointed Julio Jimenez, a Mexican mauler. Then, Mario Ramon, a Los Angeles welterweight, and Bobby Williams of New York came on for the semi-windup.
Two minutes of their first round went by. Suddenly, Benny staggered into the ropes. He fell, face forward, with such force that later a bruise was found on his forehead. The old ring instinct must have been with him to the end, because almost as he hit the canvas he tried to roll over on his back, just as a knocked-down fighter would do, to watch a "count."
Thrombosis Is Cause
One of the fighters, stumbled over Benny's body. Dr. Vincent Nardiello, the state commission physician, hurried into the ring. A stretcher was brought, and Benny was carefully carried to a dressing room. But he already was dead. Dr. Nardiello called it a cerebral hemorrhage. In the death certificate issued later, Dr. William Benenson, an assistant medical examiner, gave the cause as coronary thrombosis.
One of Benny's two surviving brothers, Joey, had the body removed.

Russell, Kelder, Williams to Attend Commerce Parley Will Represent Local C. of C. Units at 35th Annual Meeting in Washington

Members of the local Chamber of Commerce will attend the 35th annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in Washington April 28 through May 1. Donald F. Williams, executive secretary of the Kingston organization announced today.
Fabian L. Russell, president of the F. C. Russell Company of Saugerties, who is a member of both the Saugerties and Kingston Chambers of Commerce and Lawrence Kelder of Shokan are expected to make the trip with Williams, the latter reported today. At least one other local man may attend, Williams said.
The men from the local organization will have voting privileges at the session.
America's new role in world affairs will be stressed at the meeting and Earl O. Shreve, vice president of the National Chamber and vice-president of the General Electric Company, New York, will deliver the keynote address on "The World We Live In."
Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal, under the theme, "Waging World Peace," will discuss the nation's postwar role along with Walter Lippman, author, and a group of radio commentators.
Col. Albert Warner of the Mutual Broadcasting System will be moderator and commentator on issues and facts will be Raymond Swing, Eric Severide and Richard Harkness.
This discussion will start the meeting on three days of comprehensive discussion of current problems and issues, ranging from the contracting depression, to housing, to taxes and labor legislation.
Among the speakers in the general sessions, at luncheons and dinners will be Senator Robert A. Taft, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, and Henry Ford, II, president of the Ford Motor Company.
Up to Convention, Says F.D.R. Jr. on Candidacy
Albany, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., sometimes mentioned as a possible gubernatorial candidate, says "people just don't decide on their own heads" that they will stand for election.
"Candidates are chosen by parties in conventions," Roosevelt reminded newsmen last night. "It would be rather presumptuous for anyone to step up and say he wanted to be a candidate for anything."
The specific question had been whether Roosevelt would seek the Democratic nomination for governor of New York in 1950.
To his answer, the son of the late president added "politics is in my blood."
Roosevelt, who practices law in New York city, was here to address a state organization meeting of Americans for Democratic Action. He said it was his first trip to Albany since 1932, when his father left the governorship for the presidency.

Flying to Norway

Stockholm, Sweden, April 19 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, former Democratic vice president of the United States, left by plane for Oslo, Norway, today after a 36-hour stay which evoked much public and little editorial comment in Swedish newspapers. Harold E. Stassen, candidate for the 1948 Republican nomination for president of the U. S., replaced Wallace in the headlines here. The two did not meet in Stockholm. The possibility remained, however, that they might do so in Oslo, where Stassen is going tomorrow.

Rains Help Firemen

Toledo, April 19 (AP)—Heavy rains early today aided firemen in halting two of four fires in northern and western Honshu which took three lives and left an estimated 1,700 families homeless. The homes were destroyed, and where a forest fire spread into the town and left 1,000 residences in ashes.

Snow in Western N. Y.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—A light overnight snowfall covered the ground in most of western New York today and the Weather Bureau said that continuous low temperatures might bring more over the week-end. The snow, which reached a 1.7 inch depth, melted as it hit the streets but stuck to the ground and to trees.

50,000 Western Union Employees to Receive Five-Cent Hourly Wage Hike, Other Benefits Case to President

'Phone Workers Hope to Smoke Out Wage Boost from Bell

By HAROLD W. WARD
Washington, April 19 (AP)—A nationwide walkout of Western Union telegraphers was averted today while the still striking telephone workers prepared to lay their case before President Truman and Congress.
Under a tentative agreement announced early today in New York by the union and management, 50,000 Western Union Telegraph Company employees are to receive a 5-cent hourly wage hike and other benefits.
The A.F.L. Commercial Telegraphers Union had called a strike for May 4 in support of its demands, which included a 25-cent hourly increase.
Union officials said the agreement is subject to ratification by the C.T.U. as well as by Telegraph Workers Union, and Telegraph Employees Union, both of which participated in negotiations.
Ronald W. Haughton, federal conciliator, said the agreement would "guarantee peace" for six months after April 1 after which the wage claim may be re-opened for further negotiation.
Other points in the agreement related to an improved sick benefit plan, permitting a maximum of 13 weeks' leave at full pay; revision of the company pension plan; that "maintenance of membership clause providing for automatic dues checkoff for new employees."
The 7,000 company employees in the New York Metropolitan area, who are represented by the American Communications Association (C.I.O.) are not involved in the agreement.
Following signing of the tentative agreement, J. A. Payne, president of the C.T.U.'s W. U. Division, told newsmen in New York that "judging this is a industry about to go on the rocks, it's the best we could get anyhow. It's a down payment on a wage pattern that will emerge later on."
Company officials had no comment.
The telephone workers are hopeful that in presenting their case to Mr. Truman and Congress they can smoke out a wage increase offer from the Bell System.

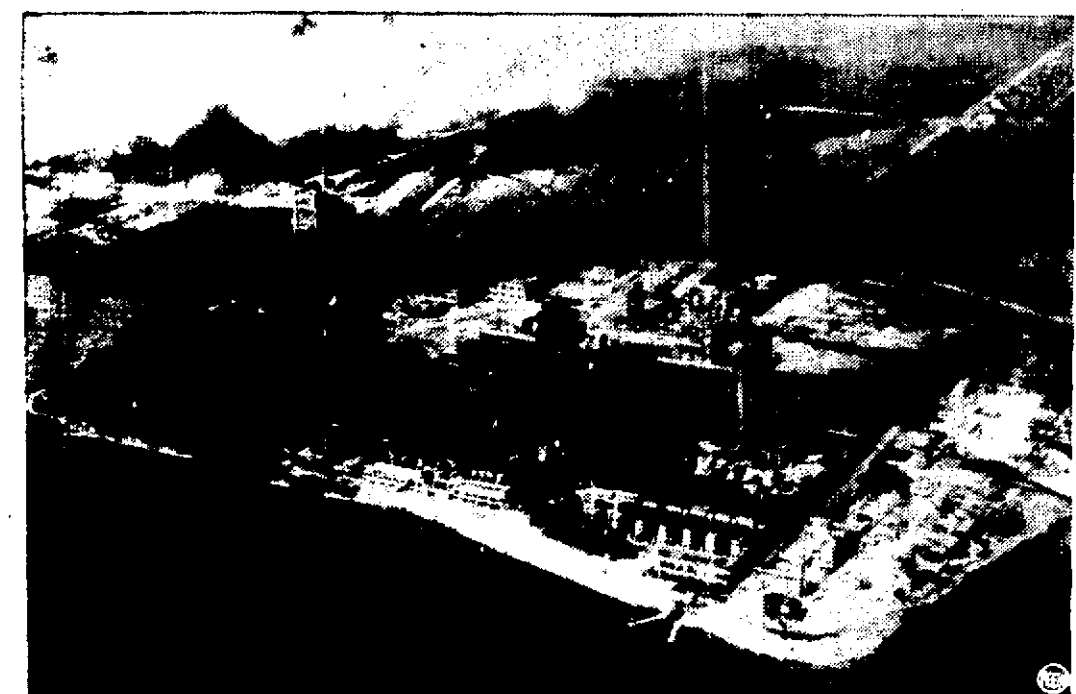

In Form of Memorandum

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the National Federation of Telephone Workers, said the maneuver will take the form of a memorandum during the day to Mr. Truman, the House and the Senate citing the union's arguments for a general $12 weekly pay increase and nine other nationwide contract demands.
He told reporters the Bell companies have failed to put forth a counter-offer on wages since the April 7 walkout made 340,000 workers idle. Beirne declared he could see no way to end the tie-up without a pay boost.
The Bell companies have suggested arbitration of wages and

'Hijacking'

State Police Say Parks Admits Taking 48,000 Pounds of Sugar
Sidney, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—Binghamton authorities had custody today of a Haverstraw truck driver who, State Police say, admitted "hijacking" the 48,000 pounds of sugar he was transporting.
No formal charge had been filed. Inspector Carl A. Lawson said last night that John Parks of 52 Broadway, Haverstraw, had contradicted his original story of an early morning hijacking with a report that he himself had sold the sugar in Binghamton for 14 cents a pound.
The sugar was recovered there in a garage, the inspector added. A $5,000 return load of woollens destined for New York city had been found in the truck, abandoned near Maryland, N. Y., State Police Capt. H. A. Gay said.
The sugar, from New York, was to have been delivered at the Weston Biscuit Company in Salamanca. The driver first told police that it was stolen from him around 2 a. m. Thursday after he had parked his tractor-trailer.
Three other men were detained last night in Binghamton for questioning. Their names were not disclosed.

Two of the government's top mediators, John W. Gibson, assistant secretary of labor, and William Margolis, of the U. S. Conciliation Service, conferred here yesterday with C. F. Craig, vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in charge of personnel, in an effort to expedite settlement of the 13-day-old nationwide telephone walkout.

As they left for Washington last night, Gibson and Margolis declined to give details of their session with Craig, other than to say they were sounding out the company's position.

Henry Mayer, counsel for 15 telephone unions involved in the nationwide strike, said yesterday he believed the strikers would "hold out for an indefinite length of time" or at least until the Bell System Companies offered a $5 a week pay increase.

Mayer said this increase would be a "down payment" toward the union's basic demand for a $12 increase.

A "break" in the strike was possible, he stated, because the pattern of a 15 cents an hour increase was being accepted in some industries.

There was no reason he said, why the A.T.T. a parent firm in the Bell System, could not "give at least 15 cents an hour pending arbitration" because of the "admitted rise in the cost of living."

Mandelbaum did not report any progress after meetings yesterday with representatives of the New York Telephone Company and the four local unions. He has been seeking for almost two weeks to bring the two sides together.

Reviewing the nationwide strike picture, the A.T.T. said yesterday the public still was cooperating in keeping traffic volume light. The company said 80 per cent of the normal number of local calls were being handled throughout the country, principally through dial systems, and that long distance and local service in areas without calls remained on an emergency basis.

Big Four Agree to Take Up Austria's Frontier Problem

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Moscow, April 19 (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers agreed today at the demand of Secretary of State George C. Marshall to take up the problem of Austria's frontiers tonight.
This involved chiefly Yugoslavia's demand for southern Corinthia. Russia has favored and the western powers have opposed this demand.
A final deadlock on this issue tonight—following up last night's stalemate on German assets—would be about the only thing needed to bury the Austrian treaty for the present.
While Marshall and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin have not declared themselves formally for an immediate wind-up of the conference, both are widely reported to be anxious to leave here as soon as possible in view of almost overwhelming evidence that no agreement can be reached on either a German or an Austrian treaty.
Marshall's move today appeared to be one more test to prove no progress without an almost incredible change of policy on somebody's part.
The Big Four got through three routine articles of the Austrian pact today, and while there was some shifting of positions on minor points and much arguing back and forth in the two-hour session, informants made it clear that nothing worth while was accomplished.
United States informants, suggesting that Russia apparently does not want to finish an Austrian treaty in Moscow, speculated that the Russians might have

U.S. Steel Workers Policy Makers Will Meet Sunday

Action Raises Possibility That Talks Might Produce Concrete Wage Offer Or Plan For Agreement

Pittsburgh, April 19 (AP)—A meeting of the United Steel Workers' policy makers today was postponed until tomorrow while C.I.O. President Philip Murray and Vice President John Stevens of the U.S. Steel Corporation continued contract discussions which began yesterday.

The meeting of the union's executive board was deferred as regional presidents were getting together for a session originally set for 10 a. m. today.

The action raised the possibility that the talks between Murray and Stevens might produce a concrete wage offer or plan for agreement on the questions between the country's largest basic industry union and the steel corporation.

There was no official explanation of the postponement. One union spokesman commented "Anything the executive committee has to do can be done tomorrow just as well as today."

A few decisions made by the executive committee are expected to go a long way toward determining the future of steel production for another year.

The purpose of the executive committee meeting is to pass on the results of the collective bargaining negotiations which have been under way for weeks.

Most speculation centers around a reported wage increase offer, amount unspecified, which the trade journal, Iron Age, said was

Russell, Kelder, Williams to Attend Commerce Parley

Will Represent Local C. of C. Units at 35th Annual Meeting in Washington

Members of the local Chamber of Commerce will attend the 35th annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in Washington April 28 through May 1. Donald F. Williams, executive secretary of the Kingston organization announced today.

Fabian L. Russell, president of the F. C. Russell Company of Saugerties, who is a member of both the Saugerties and Kingston Chambers of Commerce and Lawrence Kelder of Shokan are expected to make the trip with Williams, the latter reported today. At least one other local man may attend, Williams said.

The men from the local organization will have voting privileges at the session.

America's new role in world affairs will be stressed at the meeting and Earl O. Shreve, vice president of the National Chambers of Commerce, will deliver the keynote address on "The World We Live In."

Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal, under the theme, "Waging World Peace," will discuss the nation's postwar role along with Walter Lippman, author, and a group of radio commentators.

Col. Albert Warner of the Mutual Broadcasting System will be moderator and commenting on issues and facts will be Raymond Taft, Eric Severell and Richard Harkness.

This discussion will start the meeting on three days of comprehensive discussion of current problems and issues, ranging from the counteracting depressions, to housing, to taxes and labor legislation.

Other points in the tentative agreement of the C.T.U.'s W. U. Division, told newsmen in New York that "judging this is an industry about to go on the rocks, it's the best we could get anyhow. It's a down payment on a wage pattern that will emerge later on."

Up to Convention, Says F.D.R. Jr. on Candidacy

Albany, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., sometimes mentioned as a possible gubernatorial candidate, says "people just don't decide on their own hook" that they will stand for election.

"Candidates are chosen by parties in conventions," Roosevelt said, "and I am not presumptuous enough to step up and say I wanted to be a candidate for anything."

The specific question had been whether Roosevelt would seek the Democratic nomination for governor of New York in 1950.

To his answer, the son of the late president added "politics is in my blood."

Roosevelt, who practices law in New York City, was here to address a state organization meeting of Americans for Democratic Action. He said it was his first trip to Albany since 1932, when his father left the governorship for the presidency.

Flying to Norway

Stockholm, Sweden, April 19 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, former Democratic vice president of the United States, left by plane for Oslo, Norway, today after a 36-hour stay which evoked much publicity but little editorial comment in Swedish newspapers. Harold E. Stassen, candidate for the 1948 Republican nomination for president of the U. S., replaced Wallace in the headlines here. The two did not meet in Stockholm. The possibility remained, however, that they might do so in Oslo, where Stassen is going tomorrow.

Rains Help Firemen

Tukey, April 19 (AP)—Heavy rains early today aided firemen in battling two of four fires in northern and western Tukey which took three lives and left an estimated 1,700 families homeless. The rains fell at Amori, where 278 homes were destroyed, and where a forest fire spread into the town and left 1,000 residences in ashes.

Snow in Western N. Y.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—A light overnight snowfall covered the ground in most of western New York today and the Weather Bureau said that continuous low temperatures might bring more over the week-end. The snow, which reached a 1.7 inch depth, melted as it hit the streets but stuck to the ground and to trees.

50,000 Western Union Employees to Receive Five-Cent Hourly Wage Hike, Other Benefits

Case to President

'Phone Workers Hope to Smoke Out Wage Boost from Bell

By HAROLD W. WARD
Washington, April 19 (AP)—A nationwide walkout of Western Union telegraphers was averted today while the still striking telephone workers prepared to lay their case before President Truman and Congress.

Under a tentative agreement announced early today in New York by the union and management, 50,000 Western Union Telegraph Company employees are to receive a 5-cent hourly wage hike and other benefits.

The A.F.L. Commercial Telegraphers Union had called a strike for May 4 in support of its demands, which included a 25-cent hourly increase.

Union officials said the agreement is subject to ratification by the C.T.U. as well as by Telegraph Workers Union and Telegraph Employers Union, both A.F.L., which participated in negotiations.

Ronald W. Houghton, federal conciliator, said the agreement would "guarantee peace" for six months after April 1 after which the wage clause may be re-opened for further negotiation.

Other points in the agreement related to an improved sick benefit plan, permitting a maximum of 13 weeks' leave at full pay; revision of the company pension plan; and a maintenance of membership clause providing for automatic dues checkoff for new employees.

The 7,000 company employees in the New York Metropolitan area, who are represented by the American Communications Association (C.I.O.) are not involved in the agreement.

The following signing of the tentative agreement: J. A. Payne, president of the C.T.U.'s W. U. Division, told newsmen in New York that "judging this is an industry about to go on the rocks, it's the best we could get anyhow. It's a down payment on a wage pattern that will emerge later on."

Company officials had no comment.

The telephone workers are hopeful that in presenting their case to Mr. Truman and Congress they can smoke out a wage increase offer from the Bell System.

'Hijacking'

State Police Say Parks Admits Taking 48,000 Pounds of Sugar

Sidney, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—Binghamton authorities had custody today of a Haverstraw truck driver who, State Police say, admitted "hijacking" the 48,000 pounds of sugar he was transporting.

No formal charge had been filed. Inspector Carl A. Lawson said last night that John Parks of 52 Broadway, Haverstraw, had contradicted his original story of an early morning hijacking with a report that he himself had sold the sugar in Binghamton for 14 cents a pound.

The sugar was recovered there in a garage, the inspector added. A $5,000 return load of woollens destined for New York City had been found in the truck, abandoned near Maryland, N. Y., State Police Capt. H. A. Gay said.

The sugar, from New York, was to have been delivered at the Western Biscuit Company in Salamanca. The driver first told police that it was stolen from him around 2 a. m. Thursday after he had parked his tractor-trailer.

Three other men were detained last night in Binghamton for questioning. Their names were not disclosed.

"Better citizens build a better world" is appreciated by outstanding citizens of our community. Expressing his interest in the success of the Girl Scout Finance Campaign for $12,000 for the coming year, Roger H. Loughran, well-known councilor-at-law says in a letter to Oscar Newkirk, Kingston district chairman:

Dear Mr. Newkirk: It is my view that Girl Scoutism answers a need not only in the cities but also in the country. In these days of supervision, a well directed program is to be desired in bringing up our young folk.

The Girl Scouting program supplies companionship and occupation and directs the attention of the girls toward matters which are highly desirable and which help fit them for duties after they reach maturity.

The exact number of the dead brought out was difficult to ascertain. Many of the bodies were in pieces.

The slow process of recovery was made more arduous by the mangled condition of the bodies. "I've been bringing out the pieces all day," said John A. Rios, a Galveston longshoreman, "I guess they add up to about two people. I only found one whole man and he was burned black. Don't see how anything could be worse than this."

A statement by Monsanto officials at St. Louis said that 201 of its employees are missing or "unreported and believed to be dead." Three oil tank fires blazed defiantly last night, and a number of smaller fires continued to burn. The heavy black smoke deepened the gloom of this already dazed, tired little city, once a great congregation of industry and 15,000 population.

Just Rumor on Survivors

Rumors which persisted yesterday that some survivors had been found alive beneath the mountain of wreckage that was the Monsanto plant were unsubstantiated. Deputy Mayor John Hill said he had not "heard of anybody being brought out alive, but I hope to God they will."

At the Coast Guard investigation hearing yesterday, a customs agent testified there were 16 cases of ammunition aboard the Grand Camp. William T. Butler, technical advisor to the board headed by Rear Admiral Gordon T. Finley, said such ammunition was not considered dangerous cargo although nitrate, which also was being loaded, was dangerous.

Edward Westernman, manager of the E. S. Binnings Company, agents for the French Government-owned ship, told investigators that longshoremen had loaded approximately 2,300 tons of ammonium nitrate on the ship on the day before the explosion.

Plans for Poppy Drive Made By Marletown Auxiliary

The unit also has planned a card party which will take place the latter part of May to provide funds for the general operating expenses of the auxiliary. Mrs. David Blakely, Sr., is chairman of the card party. She will name her assistants later.

The auxiliary will select a girl to send to "Girl's State" at Skidmore College in July. The girl must be a junior in high school and doing outstanding work in social studies. She must also be a leader in school activities. She will be recommended by the faculty of Kingston High School.

Refreshments were served by the auxiliary and a social hour with the Legion followed.

other issues on an area-by-area basis, but the N.F.T.W. has insisted that any wage settlement must be nationwide.

The A.F.L. Commercial Telegraphers Union had asked the government either to take over the Western Union Telegraph Company or permit its merger with the American Telephone and the Bell System.

The A.F.L. plea was made in a brief filed in connection with F.C.C. proceedings on a Western Union petition for permission to cut down some of its local service.

The union accused Western Union of "inefficiency and incompetence" and suggested the government could operate the telegraph system as part of the postal service.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that in February telephone workers averaged $44.47 for an average 40.7 hour week, or $1.09½ an hour. It said telegraph workers, excluding messengers and 6,000 general office and divisional employees, averaged $36.73 for a 44.1 hour week in February, or 83.3 cents an hour.

The A.F.L. brief said Western Union plans "the closing transfer to agency operation, or reduction in open hours of some 35 per cent of its branch office operations."

This would leave local telegrams, it said to be handled by "garage keepers, purveyors of hot dogs, druggists, real estate agents, and even, with all solemnity, morticians."

Rent Controls Will Go

In 23 States This Month

Washington, April 19 (AP)—The O.P.A. plans to wipe out rent controls in parts of 23 states late this month.

Officials of the rental division said the order will affect portions of 40 of the 648 areas under rent controls.

It will be one of the biggest de-control steps the agency has taken under its policy of removing restrictions as the need of them slackens. O.P.A. dropped controls in parts of 13 areas in February.

The order is still "in the works," officials said, and the areas affected will not be disclosed immediately.

San Francisco, April 19 (AP)—A crab fishing boat today picked up a 42-year-old professional high diver who leaped 265 feet from the Golden Gate Bridge into San Francisco Bay this morning in what his wife described as a practice jump for a publicity stunt.

The diver, Frank H. Cushing, 42, was taken to the coast guard station at nearby Ft. Point, where he was found to be suffering a sprained back and exposure and was to be transferred to a hospital.

Trust, He Says

Washington, April 18 (AP)—J. Donald Ferguson, president and editor of the Milwaukee Journal, said today that "freedom of the press is a trust and an obligation" and "is not a right conferred on a group of men who run newspapers." Ferguson told the American Society of newspaper editors. Freedom of the press "is a right of the people. The newspaper is only a trustee of that right for the people. We violate the trust if we color facts." And Ferguson advised: "Don't underestimate the intelligence of the reading public. The public is quick to resent any violation of its rights."

CATHOLIC CHARITIES

The annual Catholic Charities appeal will be conducted beginning Sunday. While the drives are conducted among the parishioners of Catholic Churches, they win non-sectarian response and contributions from people regardless of creed or religious persuasion. So is the work of the organization dispensed, too, regardless of race, creed or color.

Serving the individual, the family and the community in helping people, who are no longer able to solve their own social and economic problems alone, the Ulster County office of New York Catholic Charities, located at 261 Fair street, last year assisted 807 individuals, comprising 257 families.

Institutions and agencies numbering more than 200 mobilized by Catholic Charities for the protection of the American way of life in the New York Archdiocese, cover almost every phase of service in the fields of health, child care, social action and family welfare.

May the response to the appeal be generous and widespread.

MAPLE SYRUP

Some foreign-born citizens have been inclined to say that while this is a fine country, and they wouldn't trade it for any other, at the same time they miss the many Old World traditions and ceremonies to which they have been accustomed. Well, our uninitiated friends should manage somehow to visit and enjoy such a Maple Festival as occurs at this time in the many northern states where such a celebration is possible.

Consider, for example, the 70,000 people who have just been swarming into Chardon, O., for the annual Geauga County Maple Festival, without which no spring could properly begin. There was such a crowd this year that many motorists were obliged to park as much as a mile from the center of activity, and the syrup bought and largely consumed on the premises was rated at 1,500 gallons. Maple Park, the place is called—a lovely name for a lovely place and a beautiful purpose. What foreign land can beat it?

HENRY IN LONDON

Henry Wallace continues to comment at London in the same free and easy way to which he has been accustomed at home, and thereby interests and at the same time puzzles his guests. English observers rather naturally assume that he has gone for some definite purpose, and that he represents not only himself, but to some extent the United States government and the American people. And whether intentionally or not, when he tells his guests, "If by coming to the British people I make it possible for certain things to happen in Britain which otherwise would not have happened, I have not come in vain," he strengthens the impression of personal and international importance.

But the American public knows that Mr. Wallace occupies no such official position. And indeed it would seem surprising if he were in London as an official emissary of any degree.

NEEDED: HUMOR

"What does a reporter need most?" This question was asked of American newspaper men by Andrei V. Vishinsky, the Russian Deputy Foreign Minister. When they gave up, he told them: "Strong legs, to catch the man he has to interview and then to run away from him after the interview is printed."

One thing which has made negotiations with the Russians seem difficult has been their deadly seriousness, manifested principally by Molotov. A sense of humor such as Vishinsky seems to have might lubricate the whole Moscow conference.

Automobile-stealing is dropping off in one large city. Only 236 cars were stolen in the first three months of 1947, according to police figures, as against 471 in the same period of 1946. Unfortunately the police explanation may be the correct one: cars are getting too old to be worth stealing.

PROFESSORIAL IRRESPONSIBILITY

I am instructed that it was not Harry Luce who put up the $200,000 for the professors to study the freedom of the press; the money came from Time, Inc. The correction is noted for whatever it might be worth. To me, it sounds like cabbage. If Luce is not Time and Time is not Luce, what has happened in that shop?

But that is not important. What is important is the statement in the report: "The Commission did not conduct 'research.' It sought facts to fill out gaps in its information or to answer questions which arose in the course of its discussions. In full session or in committee the Commission has heard testimony from 58 men and women connected with the press. . . . Who these 58 men and women are is not stipulated. It is usual in such reports to give the sources of information. That is not done, the professors summarizing 225 interviews with unspecified persons and 176 documents, unenumerated. And it cost $215,000.

They discovered that a large number of newspapers have folded. They make a point of the fact that newspaper chains own newspapers supplying 53.8 per cent of the total newspaper circulation of the country. Then they omit all the important data on the subject such as what increased the cost of producing a newspaper.

Let us look at a few figures:
The price for newsprint (in New York) in 1937 was $42.50 per ton; in 1947, $90 per ton.
The following figures on wages in four selected cities are interesting:

*Now Negotiating. Publishers offered $11 per week on each shift which was rejected.
If circulation and advertising can make up the additional costs, as it can in some cities, the newspapers continue to flourish and there is even competition. Where circulation and advertising fail to make up the difference in costs, there is likely to be a merger of existing newspapers or the weakest ones will fold.

Competition is good in the newspaper industry as in any other, but when costs make publishing prohibitive, competition is likely to disappear.
In such a city as New York, where there is lack of revenue to go around, a large number of competing newspapers continue to exist and prosper. In smaller areas, where revenue is limited, business is likely to concentrate in the most popular newspapers. Competitors will fold unless they are published by millionaires who do not care how they lose their money.

In the matter of financing capital, the newspaper, like any other business, is faced by a tax policy designed to deprive enterprise from keeping its earnings for its own improvement or for a rainy day. Corporate and personal taxes have added a cost to operations which limit the formation of capital. Many newspapers have folded because they lack the capital to make the improvements essential to maintain a competitive business.

The report states: "Monopolistic practices, together with the cost of machinery and the momentum of big, going concerns, have made it hard for new ventures to enter the field of mass communications." It does not actually emphasize, however, the cost of production, the increased cost of newsprint, the raw materials of this industry, increased cost of wages, increased taxes, increases in every type of operations. Or maybe, the professors feel that they need not bother about such details. Maybe they can print a newspaper on a pile of air and produce it by means of a glorious Springfield (Copyright 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

PREVENTION OF WHOOPING COUGH

Although whooping cough is distressing to the child and a worry-some experience for parents, most of us may not consider it serious. However, physicians and health departments advise parents to have their children immunized against whooping cough because of its complications which sometimes cause death.

Unfortunately it is only within the last couple of years that we have learned that one of the results of whooping cough which does not appear for years later is attacks of epilepsy. I mentioned this in an article some months ago and it should ever be in the minds of parents.

What about the prevention of whooping cough now that its serious complications and consequences are known?

In Medical Clinics of North America, Dr. L. W. Sauer, outstanding authority on whooping cough, gives three precautions which can prevent whooping cough in any community.

Early diagnosis by means of a swab culture of nose and throat, having child cough on a plate or slide, examination of blood corpuscles, followed by prompt isolation of the patient.

Rigid isolation of other children who have not been immunized (protected) against whooping cough who have been intimately associated with the patient—play, home, school—during the period of incubation (earliest symptoms, while disease is developing).

Routine active immunization of all children after reaching six months of age with a stimulating (preventive) dose of vaccine after known close exposure or contact with the disease, before starting school.

"Between 1938 and 1945 in Evanston, Illinois, where the number of children annually vaccinated against whooping cough is about equal to the number of new births, no immunized (protected by vaccine) child is known to have developed whooping cough."

A second dose of whooping cough vaccine known as a "reinforcement" is given the child before it enters school.

What This Pump Needs Is Priming

Lifelines

C. R. DOUGLAS

Gleanings of the past often tie in ironically with current events, as for instance, a billing at the old Kingston Opera House November 21, 1905, of the "great sensational drama of frenzied finance"; A Slave of the Mill, by Hal Reid and Harry Gordon.

Those who saw that show brought here by Gordon and Bennett for "one night only" at 25, 35 and 50 cents, probably came away with some idea of "frenzied finance," but whatever was frenzied about finance in the play had little to do with the value of the dollar in their own lives.

Those were the days of the big dollar. It was not only a man's sized piece of paper but it went a long way at the market. Then a fellow could get sirloin steak for 12 cents and chuck 3 lbs. for 25 cents. Butter sold for 26 cents a pound, and hams at from 8 1/2 to 11 1/2 cents a pound. Home dressed spring chicken and fowls 18 cents and a prime rib roast sold for 12 and 14 cents. Pot roast was 10 to 12 cents and stew beef was a give-away at four to six cents.

Suits advertised at Sampson Brothers, downtown, sold at $9.85 and "suits to measure" went at $12.50. A black Thibet suit was high at $18 and Sam Bernstein had fall overcoats at prices ranging from $7.85 to $10.

Frenzied finance, they said. It was the stuff of which plays were made. Frenzied finance, we say now. It is our own real-life confusion.

Consider our current price of 69 cents a pound for sirloin, porterhouse and round steaks, chicken at 49 and turkey at 53, butter from 69 to 71 and eggs at 59 cents. Suits sell now, with the exception of rare bargains at from $25 to $55 and topcoat excluding the bargains average $30 and up.

Then consider only ten years ago and perhaps you'll understand how quickly our dollar lost its value with the help of the black market and the general national confusion which followed the war. Ten years ago sirloin steak sold at 29 cents a pound, butter ranged in price from 32 to 36 cents and roasted chicken brought 32. Lamb chops were 25 cents and a shoulder of beef 17. Suits on the average were from $18 to $35 and topcoats from $22 to $25.

Then consider one thing is that only ten years ago before inflationary trends set in, two pounds of butter sold for the 69 cents it now takes to buy one, and there is no guarantee that the price is staying at 69 cents or going below that figure. The price of butter since the lifting of O.P.A. regulations has been more changeable than the weather and it seems to indicate that the black market still has a heavy finger in the manipulations of this one particular post-war market, if not about everything else.

Inquiry Is Closed
San Francisco, April 18 (AP)—A navy court of inquiry yesterday closed its long investigation of the July 17, 1944, explosion at Port Chicago, Calif., and announced it was unable to determine cause of the blast, which killed 322 persons.

Castor oil! Those are fighting words in any family—regardless of the patient's age. Here's a way to disguise castor oil so even the wary small fry will take it without yowls of protest.

Squeeze an orange. Pour half the juice in a glass; then, the dose of castor oil; on top of that, the remaining juice. The glass goes on a plate with a few crackers and a teaspoon of bicarbonate of soda. Just before offering the drink, put in the soda and beat vigorously. It will fizz up, and the predominant taste will be orange.

Here's a good way to give extra nourishment to your liquid-diet patient. Beat an egg white—stop before it's frothy—and stir into a glass of fruit juice.

Other result-getting remedies and recipes are included in our Reader Service booklet No. 81. Written by a registered nurse, it gives routine care of a bed patient, a chapter on contagious diseases; also pregnancy care, first-aid treatments, and so on.

Famous Negro Choir Will Sing Here Monday, April 28

Wings Over Jordan, world famous Negro choir, will appear at Kingston High School Auditorium, Monday, April 28, after a highly successful U.S.O. tour of four countries in the European theatre of operations. Wings Over Jordan, under the guidance of the Rev. Glynn T. Settle, will be heard in a concert of beloved spirituals sponsored by the New Central Baptist Church, the Rev. P. N. Saunders, pastor; and by special arrangement with International Artists Corporation, 420 Madison avenue, New York city.

Friends and listeners (of which there are now more than 13,000,000 to their Sunday morning coast-to-coast broadcast over CBS) will recall the famous spiritual choir as having first been heard nine years ago over Cleveland's WGAR. Since then, their popularity and fame has brought them through 45 states on personal appearance tours plus a request from the War Department to furnish entertainment and relaxation for the battle-weary fighting men. Wings Over Jordan also gathered millions of civilian followers in Europe through personal appearances and British Broadcasting Company rebroadcasts.

While overseas, Wings Over Jordan received two of the highest citations presented to civilians for their magnificent effect on the morale of the troops in war torn Italy, France, Germany, and Belgium. After their original six-month tour of the fighting fronts, Major General E. M. Almond, commanding general of the famous 92nd all-Negro division, made an additional request for the group to remain. As a result, Reverend Settle's choir continued their morale building tours for another four months and participated in the funeral services of President Franklin D. Roosevelt with their rendition of "The Lord's Prayer."

New Semester Basis Will Take Effect In Associated Colleges

The Associated Colleges of Upper New York, which includes Champlain College, Mohawk College, Middletown Collegiate Center and Sampson College, will change from a quarterly to a semester basis of operation. The change will make it easier for students to transfer to other colleges, (a majority of the colleges of New York State operate on a semester system), during the middle of the academic year, as well as at the completion of their freshman or sophomore years.

Three different programs of study will be offered by the colleges this summer. Two of them are designed to permit students now attending the colleges to make the change from a quarter to a semester plan without losing any credit hours. The third program will offer two six week seasons of summer work based on a semester plan of operations which will enable new students to earn semester course credits that will give them a "head start" on their college career.

For further information concerning the Associated Colleges of Upper New York (Champlain College, Sampson, Mohawk and Middletown Collegiate Center), veterans are invited to visit the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 240 Fair street, Kingston.

TABLE MANNERS

Sometimes it is hard to believe that a question is meant seriously. For example: "Is there anything improper in a grown person's eating all of one item on his plate at a time before touching a second one? If there are meat, peas and potatoes on his plate, he will eat all the meat first, then the potatoes or peas next and so on. Isn't this considered bad table manners?"

It is how he eats the items on his plate and not the order in which he eats them that is of sole importance.

No Ban Against Corsages
Dear Mrs. Post: I am confused. I always had imagined that only the mothers of the bride and groom and possibly other nearest members of the families wore corsages at the wedding. Imagine then my surprise when as a wedding guest the other day, I noticed dozens of women guests wearing flowers. I wish to goodness you'd set me straight about this.

Answer: There is no rule whatever against any woman's wearing flowers any time she wants to.

Only to Those We Love
Dear Mrs. Post: I always have thought when a husband (or wife) died that their friends should not send wedding anniversary cards or gifts to the remaining one. But I have a friend who feels that some attention should be paid to her anniversary. Is such a thing decent and proper?

Answer: This depends upon how close your friendship is. To a really dear friend, flowers on an anniversary or an appropriate friendship card is very suitable. But as a general thing, the answer is decidedly no.

An M.D.'s Cards
Dear Mrs. Post: I am an M.D. As such I think I should have my visiting cards engraved "Dr. Mary Squills." And yet a friend thinks they should be "Mary Squills, M.D." This to me seems too professional.

Answer: "Dr. Mary Squills" is best form for social usage, whereas "Mary Squills, M.D." probably would serve best to identify you professionally. On this latter card you undoubtedly would include your office hours.

Loughran, well-known counselor-at-law says in a letter to Oscar Newkirk, Kingston district chairman:

Dear Mr. Newkirk: It is my view that Girl Scout training answers a need in the country. In these days of supervision, a well directed program is to be desired in bringing up our young folk. The Girl Scout program supplies companionship and occupation and directs the attention of the girls toward matters which are highly desirable and which help fit them for duties after they reach maturity.

The exact number of the dead brought out was difficult to ascertain. Many of the bodies were in pieces. The slow process of recovery was made more arduous by the mangled condition of the bodies. "I've been bringing out the pieces all day," said John A. Rios, a Galveston longshoreman. "I guess they add up to about two people. I only found one whole man and he was burned black. Don't see how anything could be worse than this."

A statement by Monsanto officials at St. Louis said that 201 of its employees are missing or "unreported and believed to be dead." Three oil tank fires blazed defiantly last night, and a number of smaller fires continued to burn. The heavy, black smoke deepened the gloom of this already dazed, tired little city, once a great congregation of industry and 15,000 population.

Just Rumor on Survivors

Rumors which persisted yesterday that some survivors had been found alive beneath the mountain of wreckage that was the Monsanto plant were unsubstantiated. Deputy Mayor John Hill said he had not heard of anybody being brought out alive, but "I hope to God they will."

At the Coast Guard investigation hearing yesterday, a customs agent testified there were 16 cases of ammunition aboard the Grand Camp, William T. Butler, technical advisor to the board headed by Rear Admiral Gordon T. Finlay, said such ammunition was not considered dangerous cargo although nitrate, which also was being loaded, was dangerous. Edward Westernman, manager of the E. S. Binnings Company, agents for the French Government-owned ship, told investigators that longshoremen had loaded approximately 2,300 tons of ammonium nitrate on the ship on the day before the explosion.

A Poppy poster contest is being conducted throughout the schools of Marletown and prizes will be given for the best ones. These will be distributed throughout the town.

The unit also has planned a card party which will take place the latter part of May to provide funds for the general operating expenses of the auxiliary. Mrs. David Blakely, Sr., is chairman of the card party. She will name her assistants later.

The auxiliary will select a girl to send to "Girl's State" at Skidmore College in July. The girl must be a junior in high school and doing outstanding work in social studies. She must also be a leader in school activities. She will be recommended by the faculty of Kingston High School. Refreshments were served by the auxiliary and a social hour with the Legion followed.

other issues on an area-by-area basis, but the N.E.T.W. has insisted that any wage settlement must be nationwide.

The A.F.L. Commercial Telegraphers Union had asked the government either to take over the Western Union Telegraph Company or permit its merger with the American Telephone and the Bell System.

The A.F.L. plea was made in a brief filed in connection with F.C.C. proceedings on a Western Union petition for permission to cut down some of its local service.

The union accused Western Union of inefficiency and incompetence, and suggested the government could operate the telegraph system as part of the postal service.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that in February telephone workers averaged $44.47 for an average 40.7 hour week, or $1.09½ an hour. It said telegraph workers—excluding messengers and 6,000 general office and divisional employees, averaged $36.73 for a 44.1 hour week in February, or 83.3 cents an hour.

The A.F.L. brief said Western Union plans "the closing transfer to agency operation, or reduction in open hours of some 35 per cent" of its branch office operations.

This would leave local telegrams, it said, to be handled by garage keepers, purveyors of hot dogs, druggists, real estate agents, and even, with all solemnity, morticians.

Rent Controls Will Go In 23 States This Month

Washington, April 19 (AP)—The O.P.A. plans to wipe out rent controls in parts of 23 states late this month.

Officials of the rental division said the order will affect portions of 40 of the 648 areas under rent controls.

It will be one of the biggest decontrol steps the agency has taken under its policy of removing restrictions as the need of them slackens. O.P.A. dropped controls in parts of 13 areas in February.

The order is still "in the works," officials said, and the areas affected will not be disclosed immediately.

San Francisco, April 19 (AP)—A crab fishing boat today picked up a 42-year-old professional high diver who leaped 285 feet from the Golden Gate Bridge into San Francisco Bay this morning in what his wife described as a practice jump for a publicity stunt. The diver, Frank H. Cushing, 42, was taken to the coast guard station nearby Ft. Point, where he was found to be suffering a sprained back and exposure and was to be transferred to a hospital.

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

Jim tell us about a little ride he once took with a prospective auto buyer.

The prospect claimed to know all about autos and seemed to be driving pretty well.

Then all of a sudden she screamed:

"Take the wheel quick; here comes a telephone pole."

A sense of humor is a wonderful thing. The fellow whose brand new sport model ran into a telephone pole when asked "What's the matter?", replied "I'm up against it."

Those Who Beg for Rides

We wonder how many hitchhikers would stand on a street corner, begging passersby for the price of a meal or a drink. We also wonder how many of them realize that they are begging just as much as the bums and panhandlers who thus cage their living off others. They aren't begging food or drink, but they are begging transportation. And anyone who begs is a beggar, be it money, money, or chalk.

The history of the automobile could well be written merely by a reproduction of its newspaper advertisements.

Not enough attention is being paid to educating the pedestrian, according to a traffic judge. It's left too much to the school of hard knocks.

I am asked to give my idea of the "pace that kills." Well, off hand, I'd say that it's the pace you take in front of an automobile.

We see people carelessly throwing parcels into their parked cars, then walking off, leaving the cars unlocked. When we can see them so can others and those who are so careless are simply tempting thieves.

As a reward for his services to the political party, a farmer was appointed postmaster of a little backwoods town. As time went by, the postal department began getting complaints that no mail was going out from this office, so they sent an inspector to investigate. The inspector asked the postmaster why no mail had been sent out, where upon that official pointed to a large mailbag hanging in the corner and replied, "Heck, that bag ain't near full yet."

CATHOLIC CHARITIES

The annual Catholic Charities appeal will be conducted beginning Sunday. While the drives are conducted among the parishioners of Catholic Churches, they win non-sectarian response and contributions from people regardless of creed or religious persuasion. So is the work of the organization dispensed, too, regardless of race, creed or color.

Serving the individual, the family and the community in helping people, who are no longer able to solve their own social and economic problems alone, the Ulster County office of New York Catholic Charities, located at 261 Fair street, last year assisted 807 individuals, comprising 257 families.

Institutions and agencies numbering more than 200 mobilized by Catholic Charities for the protection of the American way of life in the New York Archdiocese, cover almost every phase of service in the fields of health, child care, social action and family welfare. May the response to the appeal be generous and widespread.

MAPLE SYRUP

Some foreign-born citizens have been inclined to say that while this is a fine country, and they wouldn't trade it for any other, at the same time they miss the many Old World traditions and ceremonies to which they have been accustomed. Well, our uninitiated friends should manage somehow to visit and enjoy such a Maple Festival as occurs at this time in the many northern states where such a celebration is possible.

Consider, for example, the 70,000 people who have just been swarming into Chardon, O., for the annual Geauga County Maple Festival, without which no spring could properly begin. There was such a crowd this year that many motorists were obliged to park as much as a mile from the center of activity, and the syrup bought and largely consumed on the premises was rated at 1,500 gallons. Maple Park, the place is called—a lovely name for a lovely place and a beautiful purpose. What foreign land can beat it?

HENRY IN LONDON

Henry Wallace continues to comment at London in the same free and easy way to which he has been accustomed at home, and thereby interests and at the same time puzzles his guests. English observers rather naturally assume that he has gone for some definite purpose, and that he represents not only himself, but to some extent the United States government and the American people. And whether intentionally or not, when he tells his guests, "If by coming to the British people I make it possible for certain things to happen in Britain which otherwise would not have happened, I have not come in vain," he strengthens the impression of personal and international importance.

But the American public knows that Mr. Wallace occupies no such official position. And indeed it would seem surprising if he were in London as an official emissary of any degree.

NEEDED: HUMOR

"What does a reporter need most?" This question was asked of American newspapermen by Andrei Y. Vishinsky, the Russian Deputy Foreign Minister. When they gave up, he told them: "Strong legs, to catch the man he has to interview and then to run away from him after the interview is printed."

One thing which has made negotiations with the Russians seem difficult has been their deadly seriousness, manifested principally by Molotov. A sense of humor such as Vishinsky seems to have might lubricate the whole Moscow conference.

Automobile-stealing is dropping off in one large city. Only 236 cars were stolen in the first three months of 1947, according to police figures, as against 471 in the same period of 1946. Unfortunately the police explanation may be the correct one: cars are getting too old to be worth stealing.

PROFESSORIAL IRRESPONSIBILITY

I am instructed that it was not Harry Luce who put up the $200,000 for the professors to study the freedom of the press: the money came from Time, Inc. The correction is noted for whatever it might be worth. To me it sounds like cabbage. If Luce is not Time and Time is not Luce, what has happened in that shop?

But that is not important. What is important is the statement in the report: "The Commission did not conduct 'research.' It sought facts to fill out gaps in its information or to answer questions which arose in the course of its discussions. In full session or in committee the Commission has heard testimony from 58 men and women connected with the press. . . . Who these 58 men and women are is not stipulated. It is usual in such reports to give the sources of information. That is not done, the professors summarizing 225 interviews with unspecified persons and 176 documents, unenumerated. And it cost $215,000.

They discovered that a large number of newspapers have folded. They make a point of the fact that newspaper chains own newspapers supplying 53.8 per cent of the total newspaper circulation of the country. Then they omit all the important data on the subject such as what increased the cost of producing a newspaper.

Let us look at a few figures:
The price for newspaper (in New York) in 1937 was $12.50 per ton; in 1947, $90 per ton.
The following figures on wages in four selected cities are interesting:

*Now Negotiating. Publishers offered $11 per week on each shift which was rejected.

If circulation and advertising can make up the additional costs, as it can in some cities, the newspapers continue to flourish and there is even competition. Where circulation and advertising fail to make up the difference in costs, there is likely to be a merger of existing newspapers or the weakest ones will fold.

Competition is good in the newspaper industry as in any other, but when costs make publishing prohibitive, competition is likely to disappear.

In such a city as New York, where there is ample revenue to go around, a large number of competing newspapers continue to exist and prosper. In smaller areas, where revenue is limited, business is likely to concentrate in the most popular newspapers. Competitors will fold unless they are published by millionaires who do not care how they lose their money.

In the matter of financing capital, the newspaper, like other business, is faced by a tax policy designed to deprive enterprise from keeping its earnings for its own improvement or for a rainy day. Corporate and personal taxes have added a cost to operations which limit the formation of capital. Many newspapers have folded because they lack the capital to make the improvements essential to maintain a competitive position.

"Monopolistic practices, together with the cost of machinery and the momentum of big, going concerns, have made it hard for new ventures to enter the field of mass communications." It does not factually emphasize, however, the cost of production, the increased cost of newsprint, the raw materials of this industry, increased cost of wages, increased taxes, increases in type of operations. Or maybe, the professors feel that they need not bother about such details. Maybe they can print a newspaper on a piece of air and produce it by dreams of a glorious Spring. That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

PREVENTION OF WHOOPING COUGH

Although whooping cough is distressing to the child and a worry-some experience for parents, most of us may not consider it serious. However, physicians and health departments advise parents to have their children immunized against whooping cough because of its complications which sometimes cause death.

Unfortunately it is only within the last couple of years that we have learned that one of the results of whooping cough which does not appear for years later is attacks of epilepsy. I mentioned this in an article some months ago and it should ever be in the minds of parents.

What about the prevention of whooping cough now that its serious complications and consequences are known?

In Medical Clinics of North America, Dr. L. W. Sauer, outstanding authority on whooping cough, gives three precautions which can prevent whooping cough in any community.

Early diagnosis of the signs of a swab culture of nose and throat, having child cough on a plate or slide, examination of blood corpuscles, followed by prompt isolation of the patient.

Rigid isolation of other children who have not been immunized (protected) against whooping cough who have been intimately associated with the patient—play, home, school—during the period of incubation (earliest symptoms, while disease is developing).

Outline active immunization of all children after reaching six months of age with a stimulating (preventive) dose of vaccine after known close exposure or contact with the disease, before starting school.

"Between 1938 and 1945 in Evanston, Illinois, where the number of children annually vaccinated against whooping cough is about equal to the number of new births, no immunized (protected by vaccine) child is known to have developed whooping cough."

A second dose of whooping cough vaccine known as a "reinforcement" is given the child before it enters school.

What This Pump Needs Is Priming

Lifelines

C. R. DOUGLAS

Gleanings of the past often tell us ironically with current events, as for instance, a billing at the old Kingston Opera House November 21, 1905, of the "great sensational drama of frenzied finance." A Slave of the Mill, by Hal Reid and Harry Gordon.

Those who saw that show brought here by Gordon and Bennett for "one night only" at 25. 35 and 50 cents, probably came away with some idea of "frenzied finance," but whatever was frenzied about finance in the play had little to do with the value of the dollar in their own lives.

Those were the days of the big dollar. It was not only a man's sized piece of paper but it went a long way at the market. The fellow could get sirloin steak at 14 cents a pound, round for 12 1/2 cents and chuck 3 lbs. for 25 cents.

Butter sold for 26 cents a pound, and hams at from 8 1/2 to 11 1/2 cents a pound. Home dressed spring chicken and fowls 18 cents and a prime rib roast sold for 12 and 14 cents. Pot roast was 10 to 12 cents and beef was a five-away at four to six cents.

Suits advertised at Sampson Brothers, downtown, sold at $5.85 and "suits to measure" went at $12.50. A black Thibet suit was high at $18 and Sam Bernstein had fall overcoats at prices ranging from $7.85 to $10.

Frenzied finance, they said. It was the stuff of which plays were made. Frenzied finance, we say now. It is our own real-life confusion.

Consider our current price of 69 cents a pound for sirloin, porterhouse and round steaks, chicken at 49 and turkey at 53, but er from 69 to 71 and eggs at 59 cents. Suits sell now, with the exception of rare bargains at from $25 to $55 and topcoats excluding the bargains average $30 and up.

Then consider only ten years ago and perhaps you understand how quickly our dollar lost its value with the help of the black market and the general national confusion which followed the war.

Ten years ago sirloin steak sold at 29 cents a pound, butter ranged in price from 32 to 36 cents and roasting chicken brought 32. Lamb chops were 25 cents and a shoulder of beef 17. Suits on the average were from $18 to $35 and topcoats from $22 to $25.

A point worth noting is that only ten years ago before inflationary trends set in, two pounds of butter sold for the 69 cents it now takes to buy one, and there is no guarantee that the price is staying at 69 cents or going below that figure. The price of butter since the lifting of O.P.A. regulations has been more changeable than the weather and it seems to indicate that the black market still has a heavy finger in the manipulations of this one particular post-war market, if not about everything else.

Castor oil. Those are fighting worms in any family—regardless of the patient's age. Here's a way to disguise castor oil so even the wary small fry will take it without wails of protest.

Squeeze an orange. Pour half the juice in a glass; then, the dose of castor oil on top of that, the remaining juice. The glass goes on a plate with a few crackers and a teaspoon half filled with bicarbonate of soda. Just before offering the drink, put in the soda and beat vigorously. It will fizz up, and the predominant taste will be orange.

Here's a good way to give extra nourishment to your liquid-diet patient. Beat an egg white—stop before it's frothy—and stir into a glass of fruit juice.

Famous Negro Choir Will Sing Here Monday, April 28

Wings Over Jordan, world famous Negro choir, will appear at Kingston High School Auditorium, Monday, April 28, after a highly successful U.S.O. tour of four countries in the European theatre of operations. Wings Over Jordan, under the guidance of the Rev. Glynn T. Settle, will be heard in a concert of beloved spirituals sponsored by the New Central Baptist Church, the Rev. P. N. Saunders, pastor, and by special arrangement with International Artists Corporation, 420 Madison avenue, New York city.

Friends and listeners (of which there are now more than 13,000) to their Sunday morning coast-to-coast broadcast over CBS will recall the famous spiritual choir as having first been heard nine years ago over Cleveland's WGAR. Since then, their popularity and fame has brought them through 45 states on personal appearance tours plus a request from the War Department to furnish entertainment and relaxation for the battle-weary fighting men. Wings Over Jordan also gathered millions of civilian followers in Europe through personal appearances and British Broadcasting Company rebroadcasts.

While overseas, Wings Over Jordan received two of the highest citations presented to civilians for their magnificent effect on the morale of the troops in war torn Italy, France, Germany, and Belgium. After their original six-month tour of the fighting fronts, Major General E. M. Almond, commanding general of the famous 92nd all-Negro division, made an additional request for the group to remain. As a result, Reverend Settle's choir continued their mobile building tours for another four months and participated in the funeral services of President Franklin D. Roosevelt with their rendition of "The Lord's Prayer."

New Semester Basis Will Take Effect In Associated Colleges

The Associated Colleges of Upper New York, which includes Champlain College, Mohawk College, Middletown Collegiate Center and Sampson College, will change from a quarterly to a semester basis of operation. The change will make it easier for students to transfer to other colleges, (a majority of the colleges of New York State operate on a semester system), during the middle of the academic year, as well as at the completion of their freshman or sophomore years.

Three different programs of study will be offered by the colleges this summer. Two of them are designed to permit students now attending the colleges to make the change from a quarter to a semester plan without losing any credit hours. The third program will offer two six week sessions of summer work based on a semester plan of operations which will enable new students to earn semester course credits that will give them a "head start" on their college career.

For further information concerning the Associated Colleges of Upper New York (Champlain College, Sampson, Mohawk and Middletown Collegiate Center), veterans are invited to visit the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 240 Fair street, Kingston.

Sometimes it is hard to believe that a question is meant seriously. For example: "Is there anything improper in a grown person's eating all of one item on his plate at a time before touching a second one?" If there are meat, peas and potatoes on his plate, he will eat all the meat first, then the potatoes or peas next and so on. Isn't this considered bad table manners?

It is how he eats the items on his plate and not the order in which he eats them that is of sole importance.

No Ban Against Corsages

Dear Mrs. Post: I am confused. I always had imagined that only the mothers of the bride and groom and possibly other nearest members of the families wore corsages at the wedding. Imagine then my surprise when as a wedding guest the other day, I noticed dozens of women guests wearing flowers. I wish to goodness you'd set me straight about this.

Answer: There is no rule whatever against any woman's wearing flowers any time she wants to.

Only to Those We Love

Dear Mrs. Post: I always have thought when a husband (or wife) died that their friends should not send wedding anniversary cards or gifts to the remaining one. But I have a friend who feels that some attention should be paid to her anniversary. Is such a thing decent and proper?

Answer: This depends upon how close your friendship is. To a really dear friend, flowers on an anniversary or an appropriate friendship card is very suitable. But as a general thing, the answer is decidedly no.

An M.D.'s Cards

Dear Mrs. Post: I am an M.D. As such I think I should have my visiting cards engraved "Dr. Mary Squills." And yet a friend thinks they should be "Mary Squills, M.D." This to me seems too professional.

Answer: "Dr. Mary Squills" is a really dear friend, flowers on an anniversary or an appropriate friendship card is very suitable. But as a general thing, the answer is decidedly no.

Mrs. Post's leaflet, "Perfect Table Silver," will help you when buying the necessary silver for dinners or luncheons. Oxnam Declares Support Is Not Asked for Schools

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam says his church wants no government support for its schools.

"We have not the right to take public funds for sectarian education," the Bishop declared yesterday.

He told the Troy Methodist conference that the church had invested $4,000,000 in 124 schools and colleges, "and we are not going to force the government or the state to support our schools."

"In our freedom, it is our right to maintain these schools if we support them," he added.

The bishop was commenting upon a plea for funds presented by the Rev. J. A. Kingsley of New York on behalf of the Methodist Related Junior Colleges of the United States.

Conference delegates from 300 northeastern New York and Vermont churches adopted a resolution calling for legislation which would require advance advertisement of liquor license applications, so that objections could be filed. The resolution said that the New York State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board "seems determined to license as many places as possible * * * and they ignore protests of residents against such licensing."

C. D. of A. Pads for Cancer Home

In addition to contributions from local residents toward the American Cancer Society's campaign for funds this month, the local court of Catholic Daughters has been making pads for the Rosary Hill Home for Incurable Cancer at Hawthorne, Westchester county. Several thousand pads have been completed in the past few months by members of the court and friends.

Meetings are held at the Municipal Auditorium every Wednesday from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Anyone who would be willing to volunteer for this work is welcome.

The Rosary Hill Home which was started in 1901 by the late Mother Alphonsa (Rose Hawthorne Lathrop) accepts patients regardless of race, creed or color and without charge according to reports from the C. D. of A. Mother Alphonsa was the daughter of Nathaniel Hawthorne, author of "The House of Seven Gables", and at one time consul to Liverpool, England. Their home was at Concord, Mass., and among the family friends was Bronson Alcott, father of Louise May Alcott; Mr. Buel who developed the Concord grape; Emerson, Lowell, Longfellow, Whittier, Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes and Thoreau.

The family also spent several years in Europe where they met the Robert Brownings and Pope Pius IX. They spent many days at St. Peter's in Rome and Mrs. Hawthorne did a great deal of sketching in the Vatican gardens. Rose met her future husband, George Parson Lathrop, at Dresden, Germany, where he was a journalism student. They did not marry until several years later when they returned to America. She wrote for the St. Nicholas Magazine and he was associated with William Dean Howells. In 1891 at the Paulist Fathers Church they were received into the Catholic faith.

The Hawthorne family had been taught the creed of "Love Thy Neighbor," and Rose Hawthorne Lathrop became interested in the plight of the destitute cancer patients. Following the death of her former dressmaker at the almshouse on Blackwells Island, she immediately began training for her life of devotion to the poor. After the death of her husband, she worked at several establishments in New York and became Mother Alphonsa. Her dream of a home for cancerous poor was realized in the building of Rosary Hill near White Plains.

It may be a chemical—known as Malanin—not dirt that gives a child's neck a darker hue than his face.

Dr. Gene Warkish of Columbia University's Graduate School told a class at Springfield College that the chemical is more abundant on the neck. He ascribed that as the reason many children develop what appear to be unscribed necks.

Intellectual Felines
Chicago, April 19 (AP)—Miss Helen Kelly, 60, appeared before Judge N. J. Bonelli in Municipal Court yesterday on an eviction case because she has 11 cats in her apartment.

She pleaded for permission to keep two.

"But what if those cats should have kittens?" the judge inquired. "There is no danger of that," Miss Kelly assured him. "I shall speak to them and warn them against it. They understand me."

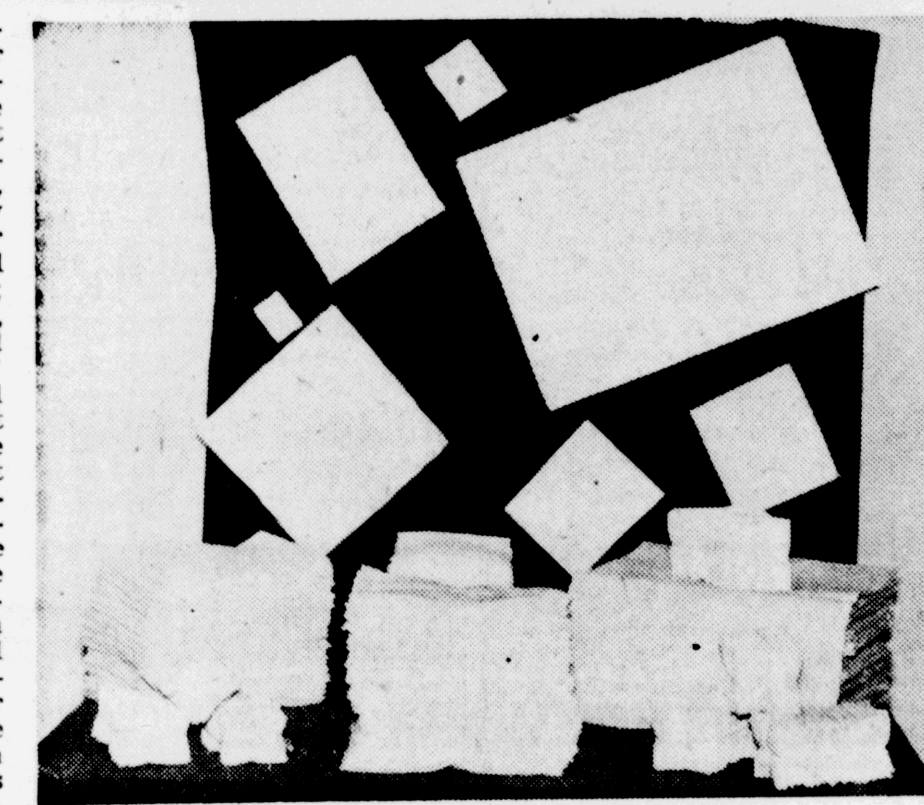

Judge Bonelli shook his head dubiously, and continued the case to April 21.

An Unmusical Serenade
Chicago, April 19 (AP)—The most annoying of all Chicago noises is the honking of automobile horns, but not in traffic.

The city's Noise Abatement Commission says it's time to set up by young swains who impatiently toot their horns to signal their girlfriends that they have arrived for their dates and are waiting at the curb.

Says Car Was Struck
Robert B. Canavan of 482 Hasbrouck avenue reported to the local police at 3:30 p. m. Friday that his auto parked in front of his home was struck by a light truck or station wagon. A tail-light and trunk were damaged by the machine which failed to stop, he added.

OFFICE CAT

(TRADE MARK REG.)
By JUNIUS

Jim told us about a little ride he once took with a prospective auto buyer.

The prospect claimed to know all about autos and seemed to be driving pretty well.

Then all of a sudden she screamed:

"Take the wheel quick! here comes a telephone pole."

A sense of humor is a wonderful thing. The fellow whose brand new sport model ran into a telephone pole when asked "What's the matter?", replied "I'm up against it."

Those Who Beg for Rides

We wonder how many hitchhikers would stand on a street corner, begging passersby for the price of a meal or a drink. We also wonder how many of them realize that they are begging just as much as the bums and panhandlers who take their living off others. They aren't begging food or drink, but they are begging transportation. And anyone who begs is a beggar, be it money, marbles, or chalk.

The history of the automobile could well be written merely by a reproduction of its newspaper advertisements.

Not enough attention is being paid to educating the pedestrian, according to a traffic judge. It's left too much to the school of hard knocks.

I am asked to give my idea of the "pace that kills." Well, off hand, I'd say that it's the pace you take in front of an automobile.

We see people carelessly throwing parcels into their parked cars, then walking off, leaving the cars unlocked. When we can see them so can others and those who are so careless are simply tempting thieves.

As a reward for his services to the political party, a farmer was appointed postmaster of a little backwater town. As time went by, the postal department began getting complaints that no mail was going out from this office, so they sent an inspector to investigate. The inspector asked the postmaster why no mail had been sent out, where upon the official pointed to a large mailbox hanging in the corner and replied, "Heck, that bag ain't near full yet."

Math. Prof.—What do we mean when we say the whole is greater than any of its parts?

Flick Pleads Innocent Of German War Crimes

Nuernberg, Germany, April 19 (AP)—German steel magnate Friedrich Flick and five of his industrial associates pleaded innocent to war crimes today after an American prosecutor declared in a blistering opening statement that they shared the blame for German crimes equally with the militarists.

The six co-defendants entered their pleas of innocence before a crowded American courtroom in which the spectators included Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. military governor of Germany.

Flick was accompanied in the prisoner's dock before the four-man U. S. court by Otto Stenbrink, Konrad Kalesch, Bernhard Weiss, Hermann Terberger and Otto Burkhardt. Burkhardt was a last minute addition to the list of defendants.

They were accused of boosting the Nazis to power, of financing the Nazis to power, of exploiting slave labor, of cheating Jews out of property and of plundering occupied countries.

The first paper mill in the U. S. was built at Germantown, Pa., in 1801.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

Response to Cue Bid Is a Problem

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Although I know that many of my readers object to my showing only one hand of 13 cards, the argument over today's hand was so keen that I cannot help passing it on to you. The problem was: over West's cue bid of two clubs, what should East, his partner, do?

Bertram Lebar, Jr., treasurer of the American Contract Bridge League and an outstanding expert, claims that nine out of ten experts would bid three diamonds with East's holding. As this seemed like quite a claim to me, I started out to check on it. About half of the experts I consulted said they would bid two diamonds, and had a good strong argument to justify that bid. The others favored three diamonds, so that East's partner would know he had a good hand.

Three-diamond I believe that the three-diamond bid should show a more solid diamond suit. Over three diamonds, West in all probability will bid three hearts or three spades, and East then will have to go to four diamonds. Now West is going to assume that East has a pretty good diamond suit.

South opened the bidding, and while a player occasionally will open with a psychic or a shaded bid, the sound basis is to assume that the opening bidder has two and a half defensive tricks or more. That means that East's king of diamonds or king of spades or both might be killed by South's strength.

If West has both majors, East's three-diamond bid will crowd the bidding. West may bid three spades over three diamonds, and if East bids four diamonds there, West probably will bid four hearts. Then East will have to show a preference with a bid of four spades, and as a result they will be in an optimistic contract that cannot be made.

An English court decision in 1772 declared slavery illegal and freed 15,000 Negroes.

Oxnam Declares Support Is Not Asked for Schools

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam says his church wants no government support for its schools.

"We have not the right to take public funds for sectarian education," the Bishop declared yesterday.

He told the Troy Methodist conference that the church had invested $4,000,000 in 124 schools and colleges, "and we are not going to force the government or the state to support our schools."

"In our freedom, it is our right to maintain these schools if we support them," he added.

The bishop was commenting upon a plea for funds presented by the Rev. J. A. Kingsley of New York on behalf of the Methodist Related Junior Colleges of the United States.

Conference delegates from 300 northernmost New York and Vermont churches adopted a resolution calling for legislation which would require advance advertisement of liquor license applications, so that objections could be filed. The resolution said that the New York State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board "seems determined to license as many places as possible... and they ignore protests of residents against such licensing."

C. D. of A. Pads for Cancer Home

In addition to contributions from local residents toward the American Cancer Society's campaign for funds this month, the local court of Catholic Daughters has been making pads for the Rosary Hill Home for Incurable Cancer at Hawthorne, Westchester county. Several thousand pads have been completed in the past few months by members of the court and friends.

Meetings are held at the Municipal Auditorium every Wednesday from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Anyone who would be willing to volunteer for this work is welcome.

The Rosary Hill Home which was started in 1901 by the late Mother Alphonsa (Rose Hawthorne Lathrop) accepts patients regardless of race, creed or color and without charge according to reports from the C. D. of A. Mother Alphonsa was the daughter of Nathaniel Hawthorne, author of "The House of Seven Gables," and at one time resided in Liverpool, England. Their home was at Concord, Mass., and among the family friends was Bronson Alcott, father of Louise May Alcott; Mr. Fiel who developed the Concord grape; Emerson, Lowell, Longfellow, Whittier, Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes and Thoreau.

The family also spent several years in Europe where they met the Robert Brownings and Pope Pius IX. They spent many days at St. Peter's in Rome and Mrs. Hawthorne did a great deal of sketching in the Vatican gardens. Rose met her future husband, George Parsons Lathrop, at Dresden, Germany, where he was a journalism student. They did not marry until several years later when they returned to America. She wrote for the St. Nicholas Magazine and he was associated with William Dean Howells. In 1891 at the Paulk's Fathers Church they were received into the Catholic faith.

The Hawthorne family had been taught the creed of "Love Thy Neighbor," and Rose Hawthorne Lathrop became interested in the plight of the destitute cancer patients. Following the death of her former employer at the almshouse on Blackwells Island, she immediately began training for her life of devotion to the poor. After the death of her husband, she worked at several establishments in New York and became Mother Alphonsa. Her dream of a home for cancerous poor was realized in the building of Rosary Hill near White Plains.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Got Only Vacant Store
Slippery Rock, Pa., April 19 (AP)—H. G. Marsden, had a sign, "chickens and eggs for sale," in front of his home on North Liberty road. A windstorm blew away everything except the "For Sale" part. Twenty-two persons asked, "How much do you want for the house?" before he could get the sign fixed.

Strong Family Ties
Nancy, France, April 19 (AP)—When the four sons of Farmer Briel of the village of Xivray began going out with the four daughters of Farmer Gotion of St. Jourd it looked like a good "Boy-meets-girl" story.

When one of the couples became serious, it looked like a marriage. Now they're all married—the last pair of them today.

It may be a chemical—known as Malanin—not dirt that gives a child's neck a darker hue than his face.

Dr. Gene Weltfish of Columbia University's Graduate School told a class at Springfield College that the chemical is more abundant on the neck. He ascribed that as a reason many children develop what appear to be unscribbled necks.

Intellectual Fellows
Chicago, April 19 (AP)—Miss Helen Kelly, 60, appeared before Judge N. J. Bonelli in Municipal Court yesterday on an eviction action because she has 11 cats in her apartment.

She pleaded for permission to keep two.

"But what if those cats should have kittens?" the judge inquired. "There is no danger of that," Miss Kelly assured him. "I shall speak to them and warn them against it. They understand me."

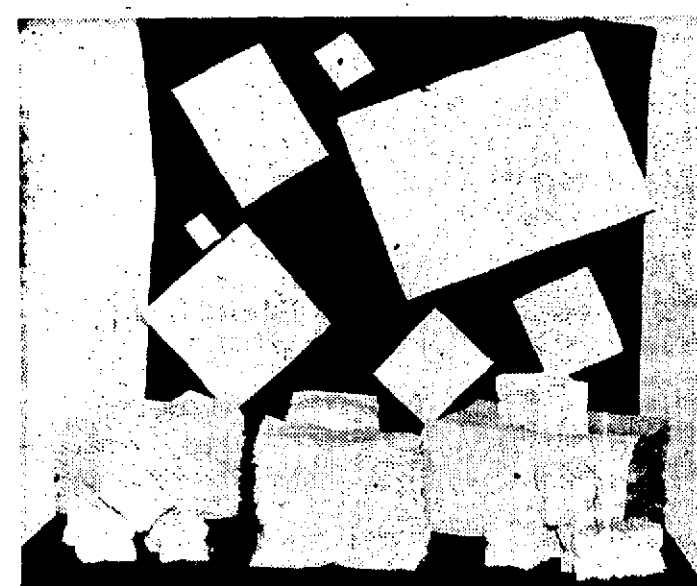

Judge Bonelli shook his head dubiously and continued the case to April 21.

An Unmusical Serenade
Chicago, April 19 (AP)—The most annoying of all Chicago noises is the honking of automobile horns, but not in traffic.

The city's Noise Abatement Commission says it's the din set up by young swains who impatiently took their horns to signal their girlfriends that they have arrived for their dates and are waiting at the curb.

Says 'Car Was Struck'
Robert B. Canavan of 482 Hasbrouck avenue reported to the local police at 3:30 p. m. Friday that his auto parked in front of his home was struck by a light truck or station wagon. A tail-light and trunk were damaged by the machine which failed to stop, he added.

Find Wingate Remains
Calcutta, April 19 (AP)—The remains of Maj. Gen. Charles Wingate, famed "Chindit" leader who was killed in the crash of a B-27 on March 24, 1944, were found near Thiloin, 50 miles northwest of Imphal, an Eastern Command press liaison officer said today.
